Woman Willing To Be Bitten By Mad Dog In Chicago Scare

Dems Issuing 'Truth Kits' To Hit McCarthy

Senator Says Other
Party Gave Nation
'20 Years Of Treason'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee is sending "truth kits" ahead of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) to editors and reporters in the cities along his present speaking route.

The committee said it is providing the material because of indications that McCarthy "has been considerably more careless with the truth while speaking away from Washington than he has been in the capital, where he is under the scrutiny of reporters who have the facts readily available to enable them to check on his claims."

The Democratic committee's "truth kits" contain material on Democratic officials' activities against communism and a Democratic Digest article "showing how Sen. McCarthy has smeared many innocent persons, including Gen. George C. Marshall and President Eisenhower, himself."

McCarthy opened his Lincoln Day tour last night in Charleston, W. Va., labeling the era of recent Democratic administrations as "20 years of treason."

The Wisconsin senator said the "label Democrat is stitched with the ideology of a Truman; rotted by the deceit of an Acheson; corrupted by the Red slime of a White."

HE SAID THERE were Democrats "who hold their heads high and who refused to yield," but they were not numerous enough to

Friends Ask Freedom For Escaped Con

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Alex R. Bryant, 48, was listed as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted fugitives before his recent capture. But now nearly 100 neighbors and business associates want him.

They want him to stay here with his wife and baby in the suburban cottage on Mt. Washington, where his attorney says Bryant has led an exemplary life for two years.

The wife, Mrs. Gladys Lawson, says the 100 friends and neighbors have signed two petitions to Gov. Goodwin J. Knight asking him to deny a request for extradition.

Mrs. Lawson married Bryant 18 months ago under his assumed name, Edward Lawson. She still insists on using the name Lawson. They have one daughter.

Bryant escaped from Michigan State Prison in January 1952 after serving 22 years of a life sentence for a series of robberies committed in 1929, when he was 24 years old. Prior to that he had served a reformatory term on a rape charge.

Mrs. Lawson said yesterday a lot more signatures are anticipated, and added: "I think he is beginning to feel a little hope. He was so hopeless before."

"We the undersigned," reads one of the petitions, "believe that Ed Lawson should go free after he has been free for two years and has obeyed all the laws. We are the people he would have to live among and feel he is perfectly safe. We are all mothers and fathers and we feel our children are as safe around him as in our own living rooms."

Salesmen Exploit Crippled Boy, 16

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A crippled 16-year-old boy, a victim of polio, told police yesterday he had been exploited by magazine subscription crews for 2½ years.

The boy said he was Franklin Miller of Huntington, W. Va. He hobbled up to the Travelers Aid Society desk at Union Station and asked for money to get back home to his widowed mother. He told police he was forced to exploit his crippled condition to sell magazines. He told how crew managers never turned over his earnings but doled out spending money and wrote down the balance in his books.

Soviet Critic Says Buck Rogers Part Of U. S. Plot To Grab Universe

MOSCOW (AP)—Take it from the Soviet press, Buck Rogers, Flash Gordon and the rest of the U. S. space boys are up to no good. They're the vanguard of a new and greater "American imperialism" aimed at conquering other planets.

This is the judgment of one G. Avarin, writing in the Soviet periodical Art of the Cinema. His article is entitled "Hollywood Looks to the Future."

Even if the Americans can't get to those other planets yet, says Avarin, they're meanwhile using the space films to scare the U. S. taxpayer so badly he won't mind paying the bill for rearming.

According to the Soviet writer, the destruction of New York shown in the movie, "When Worlds Collide" is an attempt to give "the common American man a deadly fright and to justify the armaments race."

At least one space man isn't even a good actor in the Soviet view. Avarin described swimming star Buster Crabbe as "one of the nine pseudo-actors who played Tarzan in the Hollywood films." He told his readers Buster played Flash Gordon "quite colorlessly."

Avarin reported that Flash, Buck, Captain Video, Superman and Bruce Gentry all "defeat the terrible 'Atom Man' and the 'superkiller' Cain who try to gain control of the world." Their film, he continued, "show all kinds of atomic, electric and thermo weapons, explosive flying discs, atom eyes, stratospheres, cosmopolitans and other weapons of mass destruction."

The critic said such "atomists" as Bernard Baruch and the late Secretary of Defense James

W. Forrestal ordered Hollywood to launch the space campaign when America thought it had a monopoly on the atom bomb. The purpose: "To do everything possible to frighten the forces of peace and democracy with the United States atom bomb monopoly."

But when Russia exploded her bomb, Avarin continued, Hollywood entered a new phase. The movie men "foretold the inevitability of interplanetary wars and propagandized the idea of conquering the universe."

Dulles Cites Soviet Aims

U.S. Envoy Says Reds
Would Extend Control

BERLIN (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, denouncing the Russian plan for German unification, told the Berlin conference today Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is trying to extend the Kremlin's power to the Rhine.

Dulles said Molotov had rejected a Western plan for unification of Germany through free elections because he is afraid that the 18 million Germans in the Communist zone "would overwhelmingly reject" its present Red regime.

"Mr. Molotov has good reason to be afraid," the American minister said.

Dulles led off the Western attack on the Molotov plan, which he said follows the "tragic pattern" by which the Soviet Union has spread Communist control over Eastern Europe since the war.

Yesterday, Molotov bluntly told the three Western ministers they didn't know how to hold a free German election which would keep out Hitlerites and other "corrupt, aggressive" circles.

Thus, he argued, their plan for free elections, contained in a proposal by British Foreign Secretary Eden, would only endanger the peace of the world.

HIS ARGUMENT was that the Communist way was the only safe way to assure a "democratic, peace-loving" Germany.

To make certain that Western ideas would not influence the elections, Molotov proposed that all foreign troops be withdrawn from Germany. And the Communist-controlled quarter (17 million population) would have a weighted vote equaling all the rest of the country (47 millions) in shaping a future Reich.

Within the American camp a large group favored giving Molotov a quick explanation why his type of Communist government would not be acceptable to them or to Western Germany, and then telling him bluntly:

"The subject of Germany is finished. Let's get on with a discussion of Austria and see whether any measure of agreement is possible."

9 Cons Escape Alabama Prison

ATMORE, Ala. (AP)—Heavily armed police officers searched backwoods areas near here today for nine long-term convicts who escaped through a tunnel under Atmore State Prison last night.

The escapees used a key to open a door leading from a special security cell block into a small tunnel containing electrical wiring. They forced their way through two other doors into a main tunnel before reaching freedom, emerging in a powerhouse outside the prison fence.

The break was discovered about 8:45 p. m., some 15 minutes after the eight were believed to have slipped away under the prison.

Ohioan Replaced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Tolleson (R-Wash.) will replace Rep. Weicher (R-Ohio) as temporary chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee. Weicher, of Sandusky, Ohio, has been confined to Bethesda Naval Hospital for nearly two weeks.

GOP National Chief Chides Leftwing 'Doom' Spokesmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—National Chairman Leonard W. Hall told fellow Republicans today "the left wing in America regards a depression as its one-way ticket to power," but that it talks less confidently now.

The toning down Hall said was noticeable in Democratic and leftwing predictions of Republican defeat in the 1954 congressional elections has been caused, he continued, by the legislative program Eisenhower sent Congress.

Hall said Walter Reuther, Adlai Stevenson, Paul Douglas and Wayne Morse are spreading "gloom and doom" across the land, though the nation has enjoyed the most prosperous year in history under Eisenhower.

The American people "cannot condone the reckless utterances of a mere landlubber of reckless men," he told the 146-member Republican National Committee. The GOP chiefs were called in for a two-day try at charting a winning course for the crucial November congressional elections.

THE PARTY'S National Finance Committee yesterday approved a budget of $3,800,000 for the 1954 campaign, a record for a non-presidential year and nearly double the sum for 1950.

In opening the strategy sessions today, Hall also said the President, while pledged to preserve civil service, "keenly wants more and more loyal Republicans in policy-making posts of the federal service."

He gave assurance of the President's "wholehearted cooperation in this," but conceded to the men and women who have been pleading for patronage that this is still the committee's big headache.

"I wish I could report more progress on this front," he said. "I can't. Progress has been very slow."

He said there were and still are serious legal handicaps and other obstacles to getting Democratic holdovers out of the government, all "growing out of 20 years of entrenched power."

Committee members were thankful for the 272 postmaster nominations the President sent to the Senate yesterday, but commented in effect:

"This is not enough—just an appetizer."

Postage Increase Future Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some Republicans said today it took whiplashing by the Eisenhower administration to get a House committee's approval of higher letter postage, and others predicted the House itself would kill the bill.

Some GOP resentment over administration pressure was evident in the wake of yesterday's 13-9 vote by the House Postoffice Committee to hike from 3 to 4 cents the cost of mailing out-of-town letters. This is a major item in a program for increasing postal revenues $255,760,000 yearly.

The one-cent increase in first-class letter mail would also add a penny to the cost of mailing sealed and unsealed Christmas cards.

Marilyn 'Floored' In Chat With GI

TOKYO (AP)—In a quick tour of Tokyo Army Hospital today, film star Marilyn Monroe chatted on the floor with one patient and autographed the cast of another.

In order to talk to Pvt. Albert Evans, Canton, Ohio, she had to lie on the floor and look up. Evans suffered a broken back in Korea and has been immobilized in a face down position.

Homeward bound Cpl. Donald L. Wakehouse of Iowa City, Iowa, will wear an autographed cast. Wakehouse is a former prisoner of war who was wounded in the final stages of the war, captured and then returned by the Communists.

State Aide Named

COLUMBUS (AP)—Randall Guthrie of Columbus today was named chief of the information and education section of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources. He replaces Ray White, new secretary to Gov. Lausche.

Bricker Plan Put On Shelf

No Vote Scheduled
For About 10 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said today there will be no key test votes on the Bricker amendment dealing with treaty powers until Feb. 16 or later.

The hotly controversial issue is being put aside to simmer all next week while the Senate turns to other matters. Knowland said the delay would be healthy in giving the country a chance to be heard from further.

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), author of the original proposal fought determinedly by President Eisenhower, appealed to his followers to make known their backing for a modified plan he unveiled yesterday.

This revised proposal makes big concessions but still is far more sweeping than anything the administration has indicated it would accept.

Knowland had been trying to dispose of the Bricker proposal this week. It has been before the Senate for two weeks of debate while repeated efforts were made; without success, to compromise.

MEANWHILE, Sen. George (D-Ga.), said that whatever the final fate of the Bricker amendment, the debate on it will bring much closer scrutiny of treaties than ever before.

Presidents undoubtedly will be more careful about treaties they submit to the Senate as a result of the row stirred up by the Ohioan's proposed amendment.

One key senator predicted privately that the substitute for Bricker's plan advanced by George would attract the most support.

The Georgia senator's substitute says (1) that treaties and international agreements are void if they conflict with the Constitution and (2) that presidential agreements not subject to the Senate ratification shall not "erride domestic law unless Congress so votes."

Ohio Candidate Is Disqualified

COLUMBUS (AP)—With one candidate disqualified for switching politics, there are 71 candidates for 23 Ohio congressional districts.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown yesterday directed the Trumbull County Election Board to disqualify Hugo F. Bouse Jr. of Cortland as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for congressman in the 11th District. Brown said Bouse ran for Congress two years ago as a Republican.

A new Ohio law, effective last Jan. 1, says no one can be a candidate in a party primary if at "the next preceding primary election he registered or voted as a member of a different political party."

Marathon Reading Of Bible Ended

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—It took 73 hours and 25 minutes for a church congregation here to read aloud the King James version of the Holy Bible.

Members of the Pilgrims Holiness Church started reading at 8 p. m. Monday and read day and night until 9:25 p. m. yesterday. The Rev. Virgil R. Caudill, pastor, said 46 persons alternated with the reading which was a part of the church's National Youth Week observance.

Rabies Order By Health Chief Said 'Folly'

$5,000 Cash Offered
To Prove Disease
Can't Be Transmitted

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Irene Castle Enzinger, the former internationally famed dancer and founder of an animal shelter, was reported today as "willing" to be bitten by a rabid dog "to prove" what she contends is "the folly" of an order that all dogs in Chicago be vaccinated against rabies.

The Chicago Sun-Times said Mrs. Enzinger related she would "back her medicine-defying proposition with $5,000."

"Ridiculous," said Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health, who had requested the inoculation order from the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

"No one can prove that a person bitten by a rabid dog ever died as a result," Mrs. Enzinger declared and then challenged: "I'm willing to be so bitten."

"She would most certainly die," said Dr. Bundesen.

Mrs. Enzinger: "I'll put up $5,000 that I don't get rabies. Orphans of the Storm (the animal shelter near suburban Deerfield which she founded) has never in 26 years produced a case of rabies in a person bitten by a dog."

"I'M AGAINST inoculation because it paralyzes the hind legs of dogs. This whole business is causing needless hysteria and it's opening up rich profits on vaccine."

Dr. Bundesen said if Mrs. Enzinger were bitten by a rabid dog and did not receive the vaccine shots that are necessary, "she would die."

"It must be remembered," the health department president said, "that there are 100,000 stray dogs in Chicago. As a medical man, I must look at this as an emergency. I can understand her position, as a lover of dogs."

Bunden added "We must prevent an epidemic."

Nearly a score of persons have been bitten by two reportedly rabid dogs on the South Side since Tuesday.

In the current outbreak, which has resulted in the city and much of southern Cook County being placed under a rabies quarantine, one child died after reportedly being bitten by a rabid dog. The order requires dogs to be muzzled and kept tied up.

Pope Weaker; Eating Said Difficult Now

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius' difficulty in taking food has continued to weaken him, said the first official bulletin issued on his condition today by his private physician.

The bulletin, issued by Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, said it is hoped "as soon as possible to repeat particular X-ray examinations to determine the condition both of the (pope's) gastric area as well as of other organs."

The pontiff has now been ill for more than 10 days. Scanty, occasional communiions have persistently maintained that he continues to improve. But anxiety for his health increased today when even this assurance was lacking.

Galeazzi-Lisi spent more time than usual at the Pope's bedside today, contributing to increased worry. The doctor's office said he had telephoned he would not be able to get in to his office later this morning, as he usually does after visiting the Vatican.

The Vatican press office has described the Pope's ailment as malfunctioning of the neuro-digestive tract. This has resulted in intermittent hiccups that have from time to time disturbed his sleep and, in general, weakened him.

Yesterday the Vatican press office announced that the Pope was continuing to improve. It added that he had spent a restful night.

John Welch, 59, Retired Winorr Official Here, Shot And Robbed

Columbus police were searching Friday for a young thug who shot and robbed John W. (Cotton) Welch, 59, who retired here last Monday as superintendent of the Winorr Canning Co.

The robbery occurred late Thursday night in Columbus where Welch has been living since last October. He and his wife operate a grocery and carry-out at 1227 Sullivant Ave.

166 Postal Aides Labeled As 'Risks'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Summerfield has told Congress that 166 postal employees have been discharged as "security risks" with "many hundreds" still under investigation. The postal service has about 500,000 employees.

Summerfield's testimony was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee last December and made public today.

The House hearing record showed that Rep. Sieminski (D-N.J.) protested against what he termed promiscuous application of security labels to firings for reasons other than disloyalty.

Sieminski defined the present use of the security label as "watered words," and he said:

"When I was a kid, we used to hear that people were let out for being dishonest, for being drunk, absent, chronically late, talkative or for being unable to match the qualifications of office."

"Today, with a word or a phrase that has all the implications of the life of this nation at stake, we hear that people are being let out in wholesale fashion, seemingly for security reasons."

Summerfield told the subcommittee he had not checked to determine if any record of security findings existed prior to his own administration.

David H. Stephens, chief post office inspector said in reply to questioning that some of the dismissals took place under the Truman administration loyalty program and some under the new Eisenhower security program which supplanted it.

Flyer Sideswipes Freight Train

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's St. Louis-New York flyer, the National Limited, sideswiped a freight train five miles south of here today, derailling 10 passenger cars.

B&O spokesman in Baltimore said the engineer of the shifter freight train, W. A. Jackson of Philadelphia, was killed and six train crewmen were hurt, but no passengers were injured. The railroad men were listed as three workers in a baggage car, a brakeman, a mechanic and a cook.

Mailmen May Use Caddy Carts Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The golfer's caddy cart may soon be a familiar sight on your mailman's route.

The Postoffice Department is putting them into test operation in a number of cities in an effort to take some of the load off the postman's feet.

The two-wheeled pushcart, almost identical with the type shoved around the golf links as a golf bag carrier, costs the government $28 and carries two loaded mail bags.

Lausche Predicts U.S. Truck Tax

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche warned today a federal weight-distance tax on trucks would result unless states worked out a solution.

"The cost of building roads requires a tax on the mileage traveled and the weight carried by cargo trucks," the governor said.

"If the states do not work it out, it will inevitably in my opinion have to be worked out by the federal Congress. I know of no objective and impartial study made in any state which has found that the large cargo-carrying trucks are paying their fair share."

4 Adventist Gls Given Sentences

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Four Seventh-Day Adventist servicemen were found guilty yesterday of willful disobedience for refusing duty on their sabbath and were sentenced to six months at hard labor by a special Army court martial.

The charges against the four were that they refused to take part in a practice alert on Saturday, their sabbath. The sentence imposed was the maximum possible.

Berle Bounced

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedian Milton Berle has been declared persona non grata at the Stok. Club. The trouble, according to owner Sherman Billingsley, is that the TV star "table hops and yells across the room. He acts the same way in the dining room as he does on his show."

Dems Issuing 'Truth Kits' To Hit McCarthy

"hold the lever that controlled the political destiny of a nation for two decades" and the result was "20 years of treason."

Speaking about the same time in Cheyenne, Wyo., Democratic National Chairman Stephen Mitchell accused the Republican party of giving up its scruples and making "a new and naive attempt to win a national election through the systematic use of slander."

Mitchell said there was a "calculated, deliberate, nationwide campaign launched by the Republicans to try to paint the Democratic party as the party of communism, as the party of treason and disloyalty."

He denounced what he called the philosophy of "what is good for big business is good for the country."

There was no immediate comment on McCarthy's statements from the two living persons he singled out for special mention—former President Harry S. Truman and former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Harry Dexter White, who died in 1948, was the central figure in a furore that began when Atty. Gen. Brownell charged Truman promoted White in the face of FBI warnings he was a spy.

Pennsy Turnpike Mishap Rate Cut

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania Turnpike statistics for 1953 showed today a decrease in accidents but an upswing in the number of fatal crashes.

A record 91 persons, 8 more than the previous high recorded in 1952, lost their lives in 69 fatal crashes along the 327-mile four lane super-highway. Although mileage driven rose 5.6 per cent during the 12 months the fatal accident rate was up more than 11 per cent.

Total accidents numbered 1,639 for the year, a decrease of almost 200 from the previous year's 1,832 or a drop of 10.5 per cent.

Coffee Boycott Worries Producers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Latin American coffee-producing countries made an open bid early today for U. S. government support against what they called a campaign in this country to combat high prices by drinking less coffee.

The Inter-American Coffee Commission adopted two companion resolutions expressing concern over "the campaign against the consumption of coffee being carried out in the United States" and calling for action to counteract it.

Mainly About People

And other fell on good ground, and sprang up, and bore fruit an hundredfold.—Luke 8:8. The teachings of Jesus were not supported by a great army. They were spoken by a poor man living in a tiny subject province but after nearly two thousand years they have the force of law to hundreds of millions on every continent. The secret is a handful of sincere listeners whose lives were changed by the teaching.

Strong Appeal Is Issued To Save Scouting

An urgent appeal was issued Friday to all adults and boys interested in saving a Boy Scout program for Circleville and Pickaway County, to attend a public meeting at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Circleville Presbyterian Church.

James I. Smith Jr., well-known Circleville civic leader, stressed the survival of Scouting activity in the city and county now is at stake and rapidly nearing a crisis. He said:

"We feel this is strictly a local problem so we are restricting our invitation to the Sunday meeting to Pickaway County only.

"We also promise not to talk about a finance campaign. Our prime interest in this meeting is to insure a continued Scout program in Pickaway County.

"If the meeting next Sunday is not successful, we're afraid the end has come to Scouting in the county."

Cincinnati Road Request Too High

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dep. State Highway Director John G. Heier says Cincinnati can expect $32,300,000, including state and local funds, for road projects in the next eight years.

He gave that estimate to a Cincinnati delegation, headed by former City Manager W. R. Kellogg. The group visited him yesterday to present a $127 million program.

Heier termed the program "far in excess of anything we can foresee." He said to accomplish the program Cincinnati will "have to do some of it without state aid."

Ohio River Hits 18-Year Low Ebb

CINCINNATI (AP)—River experts expected traffic conditions on the Ohio River in this area to be back to normal today after a sudden drop yesterday sent the stream's level to 9.99 feet, the lowest here since Oct. 21, 1935.

The sudden drop in the river stage left many boats in this area on dry land and the shoreline around Cincinnati showed a considerable strip of "new" mud.

Brig. Gen. Paschal N. Strong, chief of the Ohio River division of the U. S. Engineers, explained: "The tributary rivers weren't contributing."

Survey Details Given As State Weighs Bypass

Official Data Shows How Center Line Traces North

With the immediate fate of Circleville's proposed bypass up to the director of state highways and the state's local residents construction council, local residents Friday studied survey details of the route which may become the future location of Route 23 in this locality.

City Council at last Tuesday's meeting gave the city's consent or construction of the bypass, providing the state pay all of the costs, including those involved in maintenance. No decision from Columbus had been announced prior to Friday noon. Private official comments appeared to dim prospects for full acceptance of the city's terms.

The state wants to build a four-lane divided-pavement highway around the corporation's western edge, part of it passing through the city limits. As currently planned, it would be along a line surveyed by the state highways department in 1953.

In the ordinance passed by Council, the center line of the survey was described as follows:

"BEGINNING AT a point in the half section line of section 30 the south corporation line of the City of Circleville and the south line of a 10.9 acre tract owned by James I. Smith, Jr.; at a point 600 feet westward along said line from the center line of Court Street; thence northwesterly to a point lying within Lot 1057 of the Revised numbering of the lots of the City of Circleville, Ohio; thence northerly to a point in the northwesterly corporation line of Circleville, said point being approximately 535 feet north of U. S. Route 22 and in the north line of the old ball park, and shown more particularly by said survey.

"Also beginning at a point in the western line of Circleville and in the center line of Court Street; thence northerly to a point in the northwesterly corporation line of Circleville, said point being approximately 535 feet north of U. S. Route 22 and in the north line of the old ball park, and shown more particularly by said survey."

The extent to which the state is being asked to pick up the tab for all costs of the highway re-location was emphasized in Section 2 of the ordinance, which stipulated that:

"... that the cost of acquiring any right of way incident to said highway; all expenses incident thereto, and the cost of maintenance of said proposed highway will be borne by the State of Ohio and that none of the cost of acquiring, constructing or maintaining said highway aforesaid shall be the obligation or be paid for by the City of Circleville, Ohio, above cost to include all engineering expenses also."

Car Crashes Bull, House Burgled, Auto In Flames

A 500-pound bull calf, a burglary, and an automobile fire gave Pickaway County deputy sheriffs triple trouble from 7:40 p. m. Thursday until after midnight.

Deputy Sheriff Carl White said the series of calls started early in the evening when a car driven by John W. Anderson, 18, of Circleville Route 1, struck the bull.

The accident, in which the front end of Anderson's car was demolished and the bull killed, occurred on Route 23, two miles north of Circleville. Anderson told White he was headed south when the bull dashed from the east ditch into the car's path. After lengthy checking with residents in the vicinity, White learned the bull was owned by Clinton Smith, Circleville Route 3, and had escaped from a field.

Next, Deputy White was summoned to the home of Paul Easter, Lowery Lane, where a burglar had cleaned out the kitchen, stealing a variety of food, cigarettes and beer.

Shortly after beginning this investigation Deputies White and Dwight Radcliff were called to a point north of Mt. Sterling on Route 62 where an automobile driven by a Mr. Buckingham of Mt. Sterling suddenly burst into flames. The officers said the whole interior of the new car was gutted by flames before the blaze was extinguished by the Mt. Sterling fire department.

Coffee Cold War Staged In Idaho

ST. ANTHONY, Idaho (AP)—There's something of a cold war over coffee under way in St. Anthony.

The Thrifty Way Drug Store advertises in its window that coffee is 5 cents a cup, with refills free. And two doors away, the sign in a cafe window reads: "Coffee still 10 cents, but aspirin and all other drugs in stock free."

Beneath the cafe sign are the drugs "in stock": one box of aspirin, one box of bandages, a bottle of antiseptic.

The U. S. Engineers, explained: "The tributary rivers weren't contributing."

Brazil coffee plantation and closeup of branch. Each tree produces about two pounds of coffee a year. It takes seven years from planting for a tree to start producing.

Newly picked coffee berries (beans) are spread on concrete to dry in the sun in Brazil.

ONE REASON for the high price of coffee, say reports, is that they haven't got a lot of coffee in Brazil this year. Or not as much, at least. Frost killed the tops of thousands of trees last July, which means the normal exportable crop of 16,000,000 bags won't be normal. Fewer than 14,000,000 bags will be shipped out, according to one coffee trader's estimate. In late April the wholesale price was 86 cents a pound, and in late December it was 93 cents. Jan. 15 it went to $1.01, which means another retail hike is due to hit you from your grocer's price tag. (International)

Protests Reveal Scholars Read Ads

NEW YORK (AP)—Who reads the brasserie advertisements?

The Bali Basseins Co. distributed nationally an ad showing a model posing against a map labeled "Netherlands East Indies."

It drew a surprising number of letters from foreign embassies, university professors, geographers, students and others—pointing out the area now is known as Indonesia.

Sam Stein, company president, said he was sorry for any unintentional slight the map may have caused—but happy that the ads were being read by so many people.

Indiana Autoist Dies Of Injuries

CINCINNATI (AP)—Robert A. Davies, 19, of Fort Wayne, Ind., died in General Hospital today of injuries received in an automobile-truck collision.

Davies' car skidded on snow on U. S. 42, north of Pisgah (Butler County) yesterday and collided with a truck driven by Herbert Schouse, 35, South Lebanon, State Highway Patrolman Robert Woods reported. Schouse escaped injury.

Firemen Thanked

Young Yank Heading For U.S. After Fantastic Red Stint

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Young John Hvasta smilingly flew back today toward freedom in the United States, the land of his adoption, after five fantastic years in Red-ruled Czechoslovakia, the land of his birth.

The winner in a grim cat-and-mouse game with Communist officials, he took off at 6:45 a. m. EST for Zurich, Switzerland, on the flight to New York.

First a prisoner, then a fugitive, then a refugee sheltered for four months in the U. S. Embassy in Prague, the 26-year-old Czech-born U. S. Navy veteran started catching up on freedom when a State Department car whipped him through the Iron Curtain at the Czech-German border yesterday.

The full story of at least one phase (how he bounced from pillar to post as a hunted man in Czechoslovakia for 21 months, always one step ahead of his Red pursuers) may never be publicly told. It could touch off a reign of terror against the anti-Red Czechs who sheltered him.

HVASTA was accused by the Red regime of espionage. He was sentenced to 10 years. He had served 2 1/2 years when he took part in a five-man break from Leopold.

The Detroit Tigers had the American League's poorest batting average for night games. The team batted only .236 under the lights.

Three Drivers Get Penalties

A drunk driver and two other motorists were among those penalized Thursday in city court here.

Harold Procter, 41, of Columbus, was fined $100 and costs, given a three-day jail term and deprived of his operating license for six months. The penalty was on accusation of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

Procter was also fined $10 and costs for not having a valid operator's license. He was arrested by Officer John Lockard.

Ralph J. Long, 41, of Wheelersburg, O., was fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 on Route 23 north of Circleville. He was arrested by State Patrolman Bob Greene.

William T. Brown of Washington Court House was fined $5 and costs for failure to have mud flaps. He was taken into custody by State Patrolman Ray Gostman.

Amey Protests Way Reports Were Listed

Former Mayor Ed Amey has said "there must be something wrong somewhere" in the way his December financial report—the final report for Amey—was described at last meeting of City Council.

Chairman George Crites of Council's financial committee told the lawmakers that Amey's count during December netted the city "only about $300." Crites at the time was comparing the mayor's report with the impressive report filed for the new municipal court.

Amey is supported by the figures of City Auditor Lillian Young in his claim that his court brought in the city well over $300 for December. He emphasized it hasn't been made clear whether Crites meant the amount turned in to the general fund, or the total amount "turned over to the city."

Miss Young said Amey's court for December turned in $1,016 for the auto-street repair fund, $394.50 to the general fund, and $20 that "came in late on a state patrol case."

Crites was out of the city and a note was not available for clarification.

Bulldozer Kills Man Near Jackson

JACKSON (AP)—James E. Cearley, 21, of Creedmore, Tex., was killed last night as he was attempting to unhook a bulldozer which became stuck in the mud on a county road one mile west of Ohio 75 near Jackson.

The State Highway Patrol reported the bulldozer overturned, pinning Cearley to the ground.

Weather Forecast

Temperature will average 2-4 degrees below normal. Normal maximum 35 north to 42 south. Normal minimum 20-25. Little change in temperature over the weekend. Slightly warmer Monday then turning colder Wednesday. Light snow most of state Tuesday or Wednesday.

Wall Street Sees U.S. Debt Slash Made

Treasury Now Battles To Ease Its Financial Burden A Little

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street is betting today that when all the returns are in later this week the U. S. Treasury will have scored its first notable victory in its year-long uphill fight to get out from under some of the weight of debt maturing each year.

The Treasury's goal: To shift some 15 billion dollars of short-term debt into bonds it won't have to redeem until 1961.

The Federal Reserve Board gave a big assist by its easier money policy, although spokesmen say this money glut is something of a fluke and wasn't aimed primarily at making it painless for the Treasury to borrow.

And the Treasury had the advantage of a byproduct of the business dip, which had left a lot of investment money out in the cold looking for a good, safe and profitably warm home. Wall Street says the money market was just right for the new bond exchange offering, on which the returns are now being tallied.

Turning over the constantly maturing debt is one of the Treasury secretary's biggest and most irksome chores. Each week 1 1/2 billion dollars in 91-day bills come due. In addition, much larger issues mature every little while—in all some 88 1/2 billion is coming due within 12 months, and must be paid or refunded as new debt.

Sometimes the secretary is forced to compete with business for investment money—a thing neither the government nor business likes.

The Treasury's constant borrowing keeps the money market in turmoil and is likely to set the trend of interest rates, and thus affect many people and businesses.

Actually, during its first year the new administration at the Treasury has been forced to watch the weight of its short-term debt burden increase rather than dwindle as it first had hoped.

The 88 1/2 billion dollars of debt coming due within 12 months is 17 billion more than the one-year sum a year ago.

But on Feb. 15 the Treasury will shift around 15 billion dollars of its debt into the bonds redeemable in 1961, and thus get that much off the current market.

During 1953 the Treasury exchanged 34 billion dollars worth of debt for new issues (in addition to the routine 19 1/2 billion of 91-day bills) and borrowed 13 billion more in "new money." It paid off 7 billion in cash to holders who preferred that. It was able to shift only about 6 billion of its maturing and new debt into long or intermediate-term securities. The remainder had to go as new short-term debt.

City Court's January Report Supports Request For Help

Figures compiled for the first month of Circleville's new municipal court reflect a heavy volume of business and lend support to a request for an additional appropriation to hire more office help.

The court's report for January was accepted by City Council at last Tuesday night's meeting. Figures in the final report varied slightly from those released in advance of the meeting due to book-keeping readjustments.

Chairman George Crites of Council's finance committee has pointed out the court paid $2,554 to the city for January, while the final report from the court of former Mayor Ed Aney for the preceding month listed only $300 for the city treasury. Municipal Judge Sterling M. Lamb, however, has emphasized the first month's business has meant a tremendous amount of paper-work for Clerk Anne M. Caudill, with the result that much of the recording is being scheduled.

While some of this can be attributed to the temporary burdens related only to the early weeks of the court, it was pointed out at the same time that the court's business

THERE HAS BEEN no public indication that Council plans to consider the court's request for more money before the next meeting of the lawmakers, scheduled Feb. 16. The request was conveyed to Council at the last meeting but no action was taken. Crites, heading the key finance committee, told Council he did not expect to be here for the next meeting.

City officials and community leaders have frequently expressed the hope that the new municipal court will provide much of the answer for the long-haunting lack of city revenue.

At stake, they stress, is not only improved operations of the city government but also the power needed behind Circleville's long-range expansion drive.

The city court's full financial report for January, as presented to Council, was as follows:

Traffic ticket violations, $204; total fine collected, $3,145.50; total costs collected, $1,138.23; total fines, costs, and traffic ticket collected, $4,487.73.

Paid to City of Circleville: All of $1,064.15 (costs of all type cases), $1,064.15; one-half of $1,120.50 (Highway Patrol fines), $560.25; al. fines under city ordinance, $726; all fines from traffic ticket violations, $204; total paid to the City of Circleville, $2,554.40.

Paid to Pickaway County: One-half of $1,284.00 fines State Statute, not Highway Patrol, $642; costs due sheriff, $29.08; total paid to Pickaway County, $671.08.

Paid to Pickaway County Law Library Association: One-half of $1,284.00 Fines State Statute, not Highway Patrol, $642; total paid law library, $642.

Total due and paid city, $2,554.40; total due and paid county, $671.08; total due and paid Library Association, $642; total due and paid State Highway Patrol, $560.25; total paid Conservation Department, $15; total paid Berger Hospital, $45; Total Payments, $4,487.73.

During January: Amount of fines and costs suspended—$881.30; number of casts in which part or all of fines and costs suspended—35 cases; number of criminal cases disposed of—191.

Coffee Costs State 61 Cents A Pound

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—While the controversy bubbles over the high price of coffee, New York state has stepped out to market and bought some 61 cents a pound. It's top-grade coffee, you understand. The only hitch is that to get it at that price you have to buy 520,000 pounds in the bean. It's for use at state institutions.

Driver Arrested In Fatal Crash

WARREN (AP)—The State Highway Patrol has tiled a traffic manslaughter charge against Harry Jourdan, whose car was involved in an accident which killed a minister riding in a funeral procession.

The victim was Dr. Preston S. Hyde, 77-year-old associate pastor of the First Methodist Church here. Dr. Hyde, a former missionary in India and once pastor at Leroy in Medina County, died Tuesday, three days after the accident.

Hurt in the accident were Jourdan, 33, of Cortland, and funeral Director Carl W. Hall, who was riding in the lead car of the procession with Dr. Hyde. Both are in Trumbull Memorial Hospital.

Churchman's Wife Admits Poisoning 20

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The mystery of the poison candy sent to members of the First Baptist Church of Lake Wales was solved recently with the confession by the 49-year-old wife of the church's Sunday school superintendent.

Brought before U. S. Commissioner Paul Pinkerton here, the chief concern of Mrs. Letha Della Overton seemed to be her husband.

"I don't want to hurt my husband," she said. "He is such a good man."

The only words she spoke to Commissioner Pinkerton came between sobs—"I'm guilty."

About 20 persons became violently ill after eating the arsenic-tainted homemade fudge, but all escaped death.

Commissioner Pinkerton set bond at $2,500. Date of the trial is indefinite.

Mrs. Overton came to Tampa voluntarily with her husband, Jesse Overton, a bookkeeper in Lake Wales. She was arrested on a warrant charging mailing poisonous matter last Dec. 8 with intent to kill or injure.

The motive was unclear. Police Chief K. M. Mellick of Lake Wales said Mrs. Overton indicated she felt neglected socially by other members of the church.

HOLLYWOOD HEADACHES

HOLLYWOOD entered the new year engulfed in technical turmoil. The movie industry long neglected optical research, but turned to it in desperation when television began to affect attendance. Now there is a rash of new developments, but Hollywood isn't sure any of them is the solution of its troubles.

The three-dimensional film which must be viewed through polarized goggles seems to be a failure. No goggle-type 3-D feature is being shot. The filters are a nuisance, for which the mediocre 3-D pictures shown so far have offered insufficient compensation.

There is a chance of survival for Fox's CinemaScope, which produces a very wide, panoramic-type picture and requires no goggles, and for Cinemascope, which requires three cameras and three projectors. Then there is Magnascope, also shown as the Todd A-O Process.

And Paramount and M-G-M are experimenting with a new camera through which film moves horizontally instead of vertically. The process, it is claimed, achieves the widescreen dimensions of CinemaScope without limiting the picture's height.

CinemaScope is doing well at the box office, but it requires costly conversion of projection equipment. Foreign exhibitors especially, who produce from 35 to 40 percent of Hollywood's revenues, are reluctant to undertake this expense.

Absorbed in these technical problems, Hollywood seems to be neglecting investigation of other causes of lost patronage. Fantastic salaries and wage scales and wasteful production methods have pushed up admission prices until the movies are out of the range of millions who once were regular customers. Parking also is a problem for which the drive-in theater is only a partial solution.

COGNAC AND "COGNAC"

AS EVERY CONNOISSEUR of fine liquors knows, there is only one genuine cognac, distilled from grapes grown in the French region of that name. And as anyone familiar with the Gallic temperament knows, a patriotic Frenchman would willingly perish of thirst before he would swallow as much as a soupcon of a spurious variety of his national drink.

This should have been known to Russian Foreign Minister Molotov when, at a formal dinner he gave to the French delegation to the Big Four conference, he proffered a toast to Georges Bidault, in Russian "cognac," which the French foreign minister promptly declined.

The incident, of small account on its face, may go down in history as the diplomatic faux pas of the conference. For the Russians, who would like to split France off from her Western allies, could have chosen no more effective way to nullify

These Days

For quite a bit, judges and lawyers have been quarreling over the right of the people to know what is going on about them, particularly as regards criminals. Louis Waldman is chairman of a Committee of the New York State Bar Association which has issued a recommendation to gag the press on pre-trial reporting that could be interpreted to mean that the press should be silent until a case has reached the United States Supreme Court, four or five years away. What a wonderful thing that would have been for the Rosenbergs!

Waldman cited an example in a speech he delivered presenting his report which completely shows the weakness of his thinking. Here it is:

"Within the last month a young woman student at a college close by New York City was viciously and brutally attacked. Two young men, one 16 and the other 21, were apprehended that very night by the police and placed under arrest for this atrocious crime. The police, in announcing the arrest of these youths, then proceeded to report that they had made a full confession admitting the assault and the press naturally carried this alleged confession as a prominent part of the story."

Waldman does not deny the rape, the confession, the guilt or anything about the case. He only says that Americans get emotional when their daughters or their neighbors' daughters get raped by hoodlums. He objects to the publication of such news because the rapist thereupon faces an irate public. Does he wish the fathers of the community to form a reception committee for the rapists and present the beasts with bouquets of roses?

Now along comes another lawyer, Edwin M. Otterbourg, President of the New York County Lawyers' Association, who has this to say:

"But the one great industry, the important fourth estate, has not yet adopted any enforceable code of ethics. To the contrary, each newspaper thinks it can be its own judge and jury as to what it is right and wrong to do with respect to the reporting of litigations."

"It seems that in some fields, rights which have been given by law are being so abused that the time may come when the people who make the laws abridge these rights."

No newspaper instructs a reporter to commit a murder so that more newspapers will be sold. The murder is committed by the murderer, the rape by the rapist, the mugging by the mugger, the treachery by the traitor.

When the deed is done, there are four parties at interest, if we use a murder as an example:

1. The murdered person;
2. Those who are deprived of the life, the company, and sometimes the support of the murdered person;
3. The community which is entitled to peace and order and which pays heavily in taxes to see to it that murders do not take place; that aim the offering M. Bidault a snifter of phoney cognac.

Did Molotov wittingly seek to insult Bidault, and through him, France? Or did he, from ignorance incredible in a diplomat who has been around as much as the Red official, tip his hand as to what France might expect if she were to line up with Moscow on the European army question?

A small thing, perhaps, but high government officials in Moscow have fallen from grace and ended up before firing squads for less.

Accidents to Aged Increase

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ACCIDENTAL injury has joined heart disease and cancer as a major threat to the life of the aged.

Sixty-five and Over

Out of about the one thousand deaths from accidents that occur in the United States every year, almost twenty-five thousand occur among people of sixty-five and over. They are one-fourth of the fatal victims of accidental injuries, although they comprise only eight per cent of the total population.

It is believed that weakness of the body, impaired movement, forgetfulness, and poor vision make the aged particularly prone to such mishaps. Moreover, when these people are involved in accidents, the results are more likely to be serious to them.

Bones Break Easily

Aged bones break more easily and do not heal as readily as in younger persons. Burns, cuts, and other types of injury may sometimes not heal well in elderly persons. Also, when an adult is confined to bed for a prolonged period of time, he has a greater tendency to develop some severe complication, such as pneumonia or blood clots.

In Motor Accidents

There are many, many motor accidents that involve the elderly, perhaps because they have greater difficulty in coping with modern traffic conditions.

Particular care should be taken by the aged in walking down stairs. Many times, elderly persons sustain injuries by simply tripping. Even a small fall can occasionally cause severe damage to fragile bones.

Easily Controlled Cause

Accidents can be more easily controlled than any of the other causes of death among the aged. The mature individual should learn to adjust his habits in accordance with his health, and should try to keep his environment and activities free from tasks that might cause injury.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

J. T.: How can a person use dry ice to remove a wart on the sole of the foot?

Answer: This treatment, although it helps in many cases of plantar warts, should only be carried out by a physician.

Try, Stop Me

In a busy restaurant, a diner grumbled that he couldn't eat the soup that had been placed before him. The waiter summoned the manager, who apologized profusely and suggested putting the chef on carpet.

"So what's wrong with that soup?" demanded the chef haughtily when he arrived. "It's the specialite de la maison." "Could be," answered the diner, "but I can't eat it. I just don't have a spoon."

On January 2, Max Oestreicher decided to take inventory of his Twenty-Third Street tobacco shop, and ordered his clerk to make a complete count of everything in stock. The next morning the clerk had compiled a list of all the cigars, cigarettes, pipes, etc., on the premises. "Is this all we've got?" asked Oestreicher. "It's all in those departments," said the clerk. "To tell the truth, yesterday afternoon I didn't feel quite up to stuff."

Five million years from now, says a scientist, it will be impossible to keep a secret since people will be able to read each other's minds. That, if nothing else, should put an end to those radio and television quiz programs.

The Soviets' new Moscow-to-Peking express train should be a financial flop. It runs in the Red all the way.

A Sicilian tried in vain to eat the rubber boots he was accused of stealing. He found it was no snap.

The man at the next desk says one remark you never hear in a restaurant anymore is: "I think I'll skip the dessert and have, instead, another cup of coffee!"

Even with a powerful telescope the only thing of value we're able to see on the moon is all that free parking space.

A huge world surplus of cotton is predicted by the Agriculture department. That's enough to discourage the most energetic boll-weevil.

The New York City house in which Mark Twain lived is to be torn down to make room for an apartment house. Let's hope, like the great humorist's death, so many years ago, the report is slightly exaggerated.

Incidentally, in commenting on British hopes that atomic energy will generate all of England's power requirements in 20 years, Cole says:

"I will be surprised, if we aren't using this force on a large scale in 10 years or less."

CHAPTER THIRTY

ON THE following day, while she was playing the irrelevantly gay waltz from Tchaikovsky's Fifth, Dale switched it off. Tchaikovsky in his more familiar mood of the Pathetique was more to her liking. She found the record in the cabinet, dusted it off and inserted it, started the machine. As the sounds rolled over and over her, she forgot the Ethel Merman recordings she had forced on Lora Thornton.

The draperies lay on the floor in a dusty heap. After the Pathetique, she played some Sibelius, and it was while she was listening to Chopin's Sixth Prelude—the somber cry of the man on Mallorca who was sure he had lost his love in a storm off the mainland—that Dale heard the knock on the door.

For a moment, she made no move to answer it. After the second knock, insistent and determined, the door flew open. "Dale?"

It was Phil Parrish. Her resentment of his coming was so sharp that it pushed her to her feet to face him, her eyes angry.

"For the love of Mike, that funeral march!" Without even a token salute, Phil strode to the machine and silenced its needle. "No one but a man who lived on an island with bad weather and smoky fireplaces and a chronic cough could have composed it! Do you have to listen to it?"

"You don't!"

He kicked at the heap of monk's cloth on the floor. "What's all this?"

"Oh, stop sounding like Aggie! I was going to hang the draperies outside for an airing."

"You look as if you could use some air yourself," he said, his eyes searching hers intently. "Come along. I'll help you hang this stuff out, and then we'll sit in the sun and talk."

"We haven't anything to say to each other."

"I think we have. Do we safety-pin this stuff to the clothesline, or what?"

"Clothespins," she said shortly.

"Andy used to wear one on her nose. She really did snore, you know."

The grasshopper, vaulting long-leggedly from topic to topic. But Phil Parrish was neither as directionless nor as guileless as he seemed. His irrelevances were meant to disarm her and lower her guard. Once he cornered her in the yielding mood of laughter, he'd press home the main point. Certainly he had not driven all the way to Swanscombe to talk about Frederic Chopin's mistress and clothespins!

They squirmed off the draperies together and pegged them on the line. Watching them hang without movement in the still air, Dale said absently, "There ought to be a breeze, to blow out the dust."

Phil drew her down beside him on the grass in a patch of shade. "I've been talking with your grandfather," he said.

She pressed her shoulders back against the gnarled trunk of the old elm.

He continued, "Your grandfather told me it looks as if you've decided to bury yourself here for the rest of your life."

"The word is live," she corrected him.

"With that ghost I saw creeping around the rosebushes last June?"

"There are ghosts all over the world."

"In us," he said thoughtfully. "In ourselves. Ghosts of old loves and beliefs and ideas and fears—inherited, so we can never be quite free of them. Is that what you mean?"

She looked out over the lake and said slowly, "Love never dies, Phil. It is imperishable."

He gave her an angry look. "You're alive, Dale. You've got to keep in step with the living."

"I tried that, and got trampled on."

"And you'll get trampled on again!" he said fiercely. "Don't you know yet that that's part of living, getting up and going on?"

"Why—when I can stay here and not be hurt?"

"And I'll tell you yourself into insensibility with that music you were playing when I came in!" His voice changed, became gentle. "I know there's a hard stone of suffering in you. Why don't you try the hammer blows of will, or the sharp scalpel of analysis, instead of opiates?"

She did not answer.

"You've been burning things up," he observed, seeing the blackened patch of grass, the mound of gray ash. "Pity, right in the middle of your nice lawn. Leaves a nasty scar." Then, changing the topic on a tangent, confusingly, "How old were you when your parents died, Dale?"

"Five," she said. "Why?"

"In China?"

"And you made that long journey back to America alone?"

Wondering where this was leading, she answered, "Yes."

"Scared, weren't you? Lost and alone and scared to death, poor kid."

She stiffened. "You're about twenty years late with your sympathy!"

"Am I? I'm not sure about that. Some scars take a long time healing."

"I forgot that horrible time," she said angrily. "Grandfather and Grandmother helped me get over it."

"And made you feel safe and loved again."

She drew a deep, ragged breath.

the news

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's plan for international experimentation with atomic power for nonmilitary use has not been advanced by the Atomic Energy Commission's approach to the problem. It is extremely doubtful if Congress will act favorably on it at this session, if ever.

The AEC has framed several amendments to liberalize the basic atomic act, which now gives the federal government a monopoly of fissionable materials and facilities for manufacture. Legislative revision is necessary to permit development of a private atomic industry that will furnish heat, light and power to cities and factories at reasonable cost.

The AEC's recommendations also include the so-called "NATO amendment," which will authorize our military experts to instruct allied commanders on the use and effect of atomic weapons in war. It will not empower them to divulge any secrets of manufacture.

When these proposed changes reach Capitol Hill, Rep. W. Sterling Cole of New York, chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Committee, will hold public hearings on them. It is expected that they will win prompt approval in order that the U. S. may take the lead in civilian development from Russia, England, France and Canada.

PROBLEM — Eisenhower's world pooling idea, however, will not be incorporated in this first batch of amendments. For one thing, his sensational suggestion before the United Nations several weeks ago was a complete surprise to all but a few AEC members.

More importantly, atomic experts find it difficult to write a law giving Communist Russia and its satellites access to fissionable materials and machinery without endangering the free world's security. How to erect proper safeguards without nullifying the President's plan is a baffling problem.

CHANGE TUNE—But submission of the pooling proposition as a separate amendment at a later date will make it easier for Congress to reject it without blocking or delaying action on the domestic phases and development. Although Cole favors the White House scheme, Malenkov and Molotov will have to change their tune toward the U. S. before Congress will sanction the proposed exchange. A failure of partial agreement at the current Berlin parley would shelve Ike's plan permanently.

Congress is extremely anxious, however, to promote the movement for application of this great new force to peacetime purposes. It fears that too much concentration on the military and international aspects may enable other countries, friend and foe, to outstrip us in this field.

EXPERIMENT — The legislators showed their keen interest in providing funds for this project. At the behest of Cole, they have quietly appropriated $75 million for construction of a good sized reactor. It would generate enough light, fuel and power for a city of about 50,000. AEC's engineers are now working on the designs for this full-size furnace.

Almost every section of the country is struggling to become the site for this initial experiment, which will herald a new age. The area must meet certain specifications that will govern the choice.

It must have relatively high rates for rival sources of power, such as hydro, coal, oil. There must be a nearby city and factories which the atomic energy can serve as a practical demonstration. Obviously, it cannot be located in a desert, or an undeveloped place, as so frequently suggested.

Incidentally, in commenting on British hopes that atomic energy will generate all of England's power requirements in 20 years, Cole says:

"I will be surprised, if we aren't using this force on a large scale in 10 years or less."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Watching the foreign ministers' conference in Berlin has been like looking into a refrigerator: there you could see how cold the cold war really is.

For mankind the view was chilling: the meeting has produced no cracks in the ice, no sign of melting. But no one had predicted otherwise. Optimism about the meeting was zero before it began.

The ministers—the United States' Dulles, Britain's Eden, France's Bidault, Russia's Molotov—have been polite, have dined together, and haven't changed views which have been frozen solid for years.

Miracles aside, the best the United States could hope for out of the conference was:

1. That it would end with the partnership between this country, Britain and France as firm as ever, in spite of any Molotov tricks. It seems to have suffered no damage so far.

2. That the United States would be able to outdo Molotov in winning friends through the statement of its case, which was already well known anyway.

The most Russia probably hoped to gain was a weakening of the American-British-French partnership. The meeting isn't over. Molotov may yet pull out an ace.

For instance, the French would probably jump at the chance if he suggested a way to end their war with the Communists in Indochina. After losing men and money there for years, they're sick of it.

(The United States, which has been trying to bolster up French resistance, is afraid that a poor settlement by the French in Indochina might open the door to the Communists' taking over all Southeast Asia.)

If the price the French had to pay Molotov for a settlement was more delay, or flat refusal, in joining the European Defense Community—the single European army—they might be willing to buy.

So far the French have not joined EDC, against all United States urgings. They may continue to hold back even if Molotov makes no offer at all. If Molotov could wreck EDC, his Berlin trip would have been worthwhile for him.

Instead of lulling the French, Molotov may already have scared them with his ideas on the future of Germany.

Main reason for French delay in joining EDC—which would include rearmament West Germans in a single army with the French—is fear of seeing Germany start to rearm.

Molotov played on that by suggesting East and West Germany be allowed to unite and then be kept unarmed. On the face of it, an unarmed Germany seemed right in line with French desires. They'd have to think twice about it, of course, since a Germany kept unarmed would be a broad highway for Russian armies if they ever began a sweep west.

But Molotov's next suggestion was enough to jitter the French: that East and West Germany unite in a single government made up of those now in the governments of both Germanies.

With German Communists in the new government the door would be open for them to take over all Germany. The French would be helpless then if such a new Communist Germany, a Russian satellite, began rearming.

Christ, the Living Bread

JESUS TELLS HOW TO SATISFY SPIRITUAL HUNGER

Scripture—John 6.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE MIRACLE of feeding thousands with a few loaves and fishes is the only one told in all four gospels. It occurred at Bethesda, on the Sea of Galilee.

Jesus went up into a mountain and His disciples were with Him. Multitudes followed them, and Jesus recalled that the feast of the Passover was near, and asked Philip how they could feed over 5,000 people. Philip answered that they had only two hundred pennyworth of bread which was not nearly enough. Andrew said, "There is a lad here which hath five barley loaves and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?"

"Make the men sit down," Jesus said, so all sat upon the mountain's grassy slopes, and Jesus took the loaves and fishes, gave thanks for them and distributed the food to the disciples who gave it to the people. Not only was there plenty to feed the multitude, but 12 baskets were filled with what was left.

Those who were present said: "This is of a truth that prophet the works of God? Jesus' answer was, "This is the work of God, believe on Him whom He sent."

They then asked Jesus for a sign, saying, "Our fathers did eat manna in the desert; as it is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat."

"Verily, verily," Jesus said, "Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but My Father giveth you the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world."

"Then they said unto Him, Lord, evermore give us this bread," and Jesus answered, "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst."

This annoyed the Jews who repeated His words, and they said, "Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How is it then that He saith, I came down from heaven?" These were the same doubting words that were spoken in the synagogue at Nazareth when Jesus talked to his former neighbors in His home town.

MEMORY VERSE

"I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst."—John 6:35.

that should come into the world." Seeing that these people might force Him to go with them, possibly to make Him king, Jesus slipped away and went into a mountain.

His disciples went to the sea and boarded a boat. A storm arose, buffeting them about, and then they saw Jesus walking on the water toward them. They were afraid, but He calmed them. "It is I; be not afraid."

They gladly received Him in the ship, and "immediately the ship was at the land whither they went."

The people whom Christ had fed missed Him, as they did not see Him leave Bethesda. However, they found Him on the other side of the sea at Capernaum. They asked Him, "Rabbi, when camest Thou hither?" Jesus said to them: "Verily, verily I say unto you, ye seek Me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled."

"Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for Him hath God the Father sealed."

They asked Him then what they should do that they might work with Him. Jesus answered, "Whoever will do the will of My Father who is in heaven, he shall receive, and shall be able to do the works of God." Then Christ went on to explain that the bread of life He meant was His flesh, and the drink was His blood. The flesh was crucified for our sake and the blood shed for us. If we believe in Him, remembering His sacrifice and suffering, for our sakes, that would save us for life everlasting.

This talk mystified His listeners, and many who had been His disciples "walked with Him no more."

Jesus asked His twelve disciples, "Will ye also go away?" Simon Peter answered, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life, and we believe and are sure that Thou art that Christ, the Son of the living God."

Jesus said to him, "Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?"

"He spake of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon; for he it was that should betray Him, being one of the twelve."

There is enough material in this lesson to interest all ages of young people. Teach the younger children to think of the Lord calming the fears of His disciples when He was walking to them over the stormy water. "It is I; be not afraid," when they are afraid.

Bumper Crops

TAKE A LOT OUT OF YOUR SOIL

Bigger yields from improved crop varieties and hybrids take more plant food out of your soil. As organic matter disappears, soil gets harder to plow, erodes more, soaks up less rain. Prompt manure spreading puts back most of the plant food that feed crops take out, prevents loss through fermenting and leaching. The organic matter in manure makes soil easier to work, helps prevent erosion, and lets your fields soak up more rain for future use.

FEED YOUR HUNGRY FIELDS

Like Your Livestock

It's so quick and easy to hitch up the Case tractor spreader that it's practical to haul whenever you get a chance. No lifting, no jack to fool with. The self-raising hitch rests right on the ground... lifts front of box when tractor starts... gives it an 18-inch running start in slick barnyards before taking up the load. Come in and see how easy it is to back up, how low to load. Ask for copy of "Handling Manure for Extra Benefits."

Rhodes Tries Mightily To Ink Lausche

Popular Governor Never Yet Forced To Roll Up Sleeves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—November election campaigns usually bloom after the spring primary nominations.

But this year looks different. With the primaries three months away, the race for governor already is under way. It still is a one-man affair but gives promise of soon becoming competitive.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes wasted no time getting his Republican bandwagon rolling. Within two hours after the Wednesday deadline for primary election candidates to file, Rhodes opened fire on Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Both are unopposed for their party nominations.

In a Toledo talk, the auditor chided Lausche for lack of a master plan to lace Ohio with turnpikes geared to free roads. Rhodes asserted that opened the way for other states to by-pass Ohio with links between the northern turnpike and toll roads planned for southern states.

Rhodes followed up yesterday in Cleveland with a complaint that Lausche had been "working on the railroad."

The former Columbus mayor demanded Lausche make public the "monies and gratuities" received from the Federation for Railway Progress.

Referring to the organization headed by railroad Magnate Robert R. Young of Cleveland, Rhodes said in a prepared statement:

"I have in my possession documents showing that the present governor of Ohio is, or has been while in office, an officer of a group interested to furthering the best interests of its organization."

"I believe it is incumbent upon the present governor . . . to make public the monies and gratuities he has received from that organization."

There is nothing wrong with groups combining to protect their common cause or interest but it certainly is against the public interest for the governor of Ohio to be an active vice president of such an organization."

Lausche declined "any comment at all" on Rhodes' blasts.

The governor left the impression he intended to avoid being drawn into an active campaign prematurely. But the free-swinging Rhodes can be expected to keep the pressure on, hoping something may give.

Lausche was counsel for the railway federation in the 1947-48 period between his first and second terms as governor. He now is completing his fourth two-year term as governor and seeking a fifth.

The federation listed Lausche in 1951 as vice president of its executive council. Chairman of the Council is Young of Cleveland where Lausche formerly was judge and mayor. The federation no longer lists Lausche.

The governor holds an enviable vote-getting record that has permitted him to win without rolling up his sleeves in recent campaigns. Whether Rhodes can draw him out remains to be seen.

Kingston Soldier With NATO Force

Pvt. Edwin L. Hupp, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland E. Hupp, Star Route, Kingston, is now serving in Boeblingen, Germany with the 63d Ordnance Depot Company.

The company and other Seventh Army units form a major part of the strong cordon of NATO defense forces stretching across western Europe.

Hupp, a storage specialist, entered the Army in May 1953 and was stationed at Fort Lee, Va., before arriving overseas the following December.

District Nurse Lauds Work Of Highway Crews

All those responsible for clearing the district's main highways during the winter months had high tribute Friday from Mrs. Eleanor Dawson of 226 Walnut St., supervisory nurse at Veterans Hospital in Chillicothe.

Mrs. Dawson called the public's attention especially to the way in which the main local highways are kept reasonably clear of snow, as compared to conditions noticed in other adjoining counties. She said:

"I've been driving these roads for 15 years, and for a time drove the whole stretch between Columbus and Chillicothe, and I think the highway crews in Pickaway County deserve special thanks from the motoring public. I personally feel they have always done a terrific job."

Mrs. Dawson said Pickaway County crews get to work earlier than those in other counties when snowfall threatens to add to the driving hazards. She declared "you can always tell when you cross the line into Pickaway County, or out of it, just by noting the condition of the highway during the bad weather."

"Ask other motorists and they'll tell you the same thing."

In her commendation, Mrs. Dawson made individual mention of Joe Rooney, top official in Pickaway County for the state highway department. She likewise praised the work of crews under his direction.

3 Youths Admit Dayton Robbery

DAYTON (AP)—Police said two youths and a 20-year-old Cincinnati girl have admitted they robbed a jewelry store of $1,800 in diamond rings and watches.

The trio, including a 17-year-old boy, was picked up shortly after the R. J. Doty jewelry store in downtown Dayton was broken into and robbed.

The girl was identified as Edith Mae Francis of Cincinnati. Her companions were Raymond Pennington, 25, who told police he was from Kentucky, and a 17-year-old youth who gave no address.

What Wife Can Be Made Happy Husband Taking Another's Tips?

NEW YORK (AP)—If there is one thing every woman feels she knows for sure, it is how a husband ought to behave to hold his wife's love.

Be she coed, housewife, old maid or grandma, she can rattle off extemporaneously at least 999 easy ways a husband can make himself more of a shining knight in his wife's eyes.

These lists make about as much impression on the average husband as a headstrong moth trying to butt down the Empire State Bldg. He notices that no woman ever endorses that famous old masculine prescription for maintaining a wife in health and happiness: "Keep her barefoot."

Yet this rule worked pretty well for centuries. It probably could be proved even today that in those areas of the world where wives go barefoot, the divorce and ulcer rate is lower, the families are larger, than in lands where they wear shoes. Tight shoes actually may upset more wives than tight husbands.

The latest entrant in the husband-improving derby is Mrs. Veronica Dengel, a lecturer who also tells women how they can be charming and beautiful and how they can hold their husband.

The virtue of Mrs. Dengel's list of suggestions on how hubby can win his wife's love forever is that it is surprisingly small. Just these five: Serve his bride breakfast in bed once a week; spend 15 minutes a day courting her; do the heavy housework himself; let her take a vacation by herself each year; surprise her with little attentions, such as phoning her from the office to tell her how much he misses her.

Frankly, I can't think of five surer ways to break up a reasonably happy home than for a husband to carry out these suggestions literally.

Take that breakfast in bed routine. All most men can cook is canned chili. What wife is going to put up with a husband who tenderly compels her once a week to lie in bed and eat canned chili before she has even brushed her teeth? On the other hand, if she gets up and cooks the breakfast herself, what sense does it make for her to make a running broadjump back to bed and wait for her husband to bring it in?

And what wife really wants her husband to hold her hand for 15 minutes every evening while he tells her what a pretty doll she is? She knows he is lying by the clock, and would rather have him come home and snort, "For Pete's sake, baby, what happened to you today? You look like you'd been run over by a steamroller."

Now about that heavy housework. How better can a wife show how really strong she is for her husband than by holding a sofa on her back while he muses over where to put it? It is a heartless man indeed who would take from his wife this girlish joy in showing off her muscle.

A separate vacation for the wife? Try and make her take one. Most wives I know wouldn't take a vacation alone unless their husband was in a hospital with a broken leg and attended by a nurse who was sweating out her old age pension.

This business of cooing to your wife over an office phone may win her, but it also is a great way to lose your boss. No boss I know likes to have the telephone tied up by several hundred employees making love moans.

If you can't surprise your wife by mailing her a "wish you were here" postcard from your desk, maybe you'd better let her go. Let's face it, boys. If a man has to choose between losing a wife or losing a boss, what can he honestly do except say, "God-speed, baby. After all, kid, a wife is only a woman, but a job is a lot of coffee—even at today's prices."

After brooding over Mrs. Dengel's list, I have decided to forget it. Most wives have rather set opinions of their own on what the man in their life ought to do to make them happy.

What wife can be made happy by a husband who takes advice from another lady?

Public Urged To Watch Tax On All Trucks

Taxpayers all over Ohio were urged in a speech before the Circleville Rotary Club Thursday to rise up with a demand that state government officials enforce all taxes uniformly, and particularly collect the truck-axle-tax from out-of-state carriers.

Addison "Pete" Dewey, chief of the legal division of the Ohio Department of Taxation, made this appeal during his visit to Circleville from Columbus.

Dewey pointed out first that the truck axle tax, which now is being collected from users of trucks with three or more axles, has caused considerable controversy from other states which stems from so-called reciprocity agreements.

But Dewey strongly asserted that it would seem unfair if out-of-state trucks were to be exempted from the tax when Ohio owners must pay the tax, the proceeds of which bolster funds to build more and badly needed highways.

DEWEY ADDED that the taxpayers deserve and should demand that government officials enforce tax laws uniformly, that taxing officials make available all information necessary in order to comply with the laws.

In addition, he said, the tax laws should be made concise and simplified, and also that taxing officials should prevent the businessmen from keeping needless records.

In regard to the use of tax money, Dewey said there is indifference and waste in government, but that the majority of government employees desire to serve the people to the best of their ability, and want public cooperation and backing.

Heart Massage Proves Failure

CLEVELAND (AP)—A physician slit open the man's chest and massaged his still heart while a dentist applied oxygen in an unsuccessful attempt to revive a 58-year-old businessman who died in the dentist's chair after removal of six teeth yesterday.

Police said the man, James M.

Execution Delayed

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has granted a stay of execution to Russell Muskus, 31, of Kankakee, Ill., under death sentence for the fatal strangling of a New Philadelphia man in Canton, Dec. 2, 1950, during a robbery. The stay was granted pending final determination of Muskus' appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Happy Hysteria Kills Cheerleader

PORT LEYDEN, N. Y. (AP)—Tumult shook the packed gym when David Sessions, 16-year-old sophomore, sank the basket that gave the Port Leyden Central School Junior varsity a 27-26 win over West Leyden.

In the happy hysteria that swept the Port Leyden cheering section last night, a 17-year-old girl collapsed.

Sally Sessions, a senior cheering her brother's winning shot, was given artificial resuscitation on the 45-mile ambulance ride to Watertown.

At the hospital she was pronounced dead of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Texas Governor Tells Wife's Joke

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—He told it on himself at an appearance before a women's club group here the other day.

Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas looked up from a magazine article a moment and asked Mrs. Shivers, "Do you know how many really great people there are in the United States?"

"No," replied the governor's pretty lady, "but it's one less than you think."

Smith, had been given an anesthetic and had regained consciousness briefly. Then he lapsed into a coma. The dentist summoned the physician. The man died an hour later.

Brennan Stars In Galaxy Of Grid Greats

DETROIT (AP) — Men of long-standing football fame were there, to be sure, but it seemed all eyes were focused on a young man who was an unknown a week ago.

Young Terry Brennan, new head coach at Notre Dame, was making his first major public appearance last night at the Detroit Times Downtown Quarterback dinner, and he handled himself with a sureness that usually only comes with years of experience.

The 25-year-old Irishman told an intent audience: "I've stepped into some big shoes which can only be filled by hard work. I'm going to provide that hard work."

He had followed to the podium such football greats as Biggie Munn, Johnny Lattner, Forest Evashevski, but yet he received the

Deers And Pirates To Battle Tuesday In Circleville

The County League basketball battle between the Williamsport Deers and the Pickaway Pirates will be played next Tuesday night in the Circleville Fairgrounds Coliseum, and not at Pickaway.

Due to the failure of one of the school's 1953-54 schedules to make this specific mention, it was inadvertently stated that the Deers would travel to Pickaway for the fray. However, due to special arrangements, the two quintets will fight it out in Circleville.

His presence was the highlight of the Times annual affair. Lattner, Notre Dame's All-America halfback, was honored as "Player of the Year," Forest Evashevski of Iowa as "Coach of the Year" and Otto Graham, quarterback of the Cleveland Browns, as "Pro Player of the Year."

biggest ovation. His presence was the highlight of the Times annual affair. Lattner, Notre Dame's All-America halfback, was honored as "Player of the Year," Forest Evashevski of Iowa as "Coach of the Year" and Otto Graham, quarterback of the Cleveland Browns, as "Pro Player of the Year."

Stengel Tells How Yankees Plugging Their 'Weak' Gaps

By CASEY STENGEL
GLENDAL, Calif. (AP)—The New York Yankees had a good baseball club last year winning their fifth straight world championship but after the World Series the pitching staff was weakened by the retirement of Johnny Sain and the bench was weakened by the retirement of Johnny Mize.

The Yankees, a club that never stands pat, immediately went to work to plug those gaps. A trade with the Philadelphia Athletics brought up pitcher Harry Byrd and first baseman Eddie Robinson. Byrd should make up for the loss of Sain. Robinson will give us a good left-hand pinch hitter who can hit the long ball, especially at the Yankee Stadium. He also will be available to fill in at first base if needed.

Now if Mickey Mantle has fully recovered from his knee operation, Gerry Coleman returns to his great form before he re-joined the Marines and pitcher Tom Morgan, another returning serviceman, picks up where he left off, the Yankees should be as strong as last season. I think we're knee deep in every position. Our second infield of Robinson, Coleman, Miranda and Carey would be regulars on any other team.

I'm not trying to guess in Februry what will happen in October. But I know this. If nature takes its normal course, and things work out as they should, the Yankees should even be better than they were last year or the year before. Why? Well, there's old Yogi back of the bat.

As for pitching, I don't know about Allie Reynolds yet. He doesn't know either. But he's still got a lot of winners in that arm. So have Eddie Lopat and Vic Raschi. Don't forget Lopat was the best pitcher in the American League last year. His average proved it two ways—earned runs and games won and lost.

Then there is a young fellow named Whitey Ford. The infield is all set. With Joe Collins and Robinson on first base we're much better here this year. What's the matter with second base and Billy Martin? I'll admit Phil Rizzuto has been playing a long time but he's got a lot of shortstop left. If not, there's always Coleman. Gil McDougald is okay at third.

I've always said my outfield is one of the best in baseball. Every bit as good as the Dodgers for winning ball games. And the Dodgers are supposed to be pretty good. I think they are. But show me a better outfield than Dauer, Woodling, Mantle, Noren, Cerv and Skowron.

Sokolsky's These Days

4. The murderer, usually a person without whom the community can't exist.

While it is true that the murderer is entitled to a fair trial, it is also true that the murdered person is entitled to a fair trial, and it is also true that the community is justified in demanding that the malefactor be punished. The assumption that because a man has kidnapped a child, murdered the little boy, taken ransom money from his parents, broken their hearts and probably their lives, robbed a nation of parents of their peace of mind—the assumption that after a moron has done that, all human emotions should be repressed in his interest is arrant nonsense.

True, newspaper reporting makes it tough on lawyers whose interest is to get their clients off, to have a sentence reduced from first-degree murder to manslaughter, to have him imprisoned instead of executed, to get him a parole or a reprieve or a pardon. But that is not the public interest.

It must be admitted that some newspapers emphasize the sensational rather than the important, that in some the news is slanted by overemphasis or even distortion. But in the United States, there is such a variety of newspapers, radio and television reporting and news weeklies that the reader can select for himself that which he believes to be true. No one forces him to accept any one medium. No one deprives him of a different presentation. A free press is one which can be different and diverse in freedom.

Lesser known lights in tournament golf, headed by Australian Peter Thomson of Melbourne and Jack Harnden of El Paso, dominated the picture today as play continued into the second round of the $10,000 Phoenix Open.

Detroit Planning Stronger Battery Combination In '54

By FRED HUTCHINSON
BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—The Detroit club improved two notches in 1953, advancing from last to sixth place. It was gratifying in some respects but it was far from being a satisfactory team effort. The fact remains, we still were a second division club.

Our biggest weakness last year was the inconsistency of the pitching staff plus the poor showing of our catching department. The catching, especially, was highly disappointing, both on offense and defense.

Our pitchers hurled only two shutouts all year and our catchers committed 20 passed balls. Certainly our infield was nothing to brag about, but it wasn't that bad. With better work from the battery-men, the club's entire outlook would have been different.

The Tigers, for 1954, will be improved. For one thing, young pitchers like Billy Hoelt, Ray Herbert and Al Aber should be a little more sound. Last year's experience should help them. Then too, Ned Garver, has fully recovered from a knee operation. The knee bothered him all last year and naturally, cut down his effectiveness. He is a fine pitcher and should help us a lot in '54.

Harvey Kuenn, who enjoyed a successful first season at shortstop, could be even better next year. He is a natural hitter and he is improving steadily in the field. I look for him to become one of the best, if not the best shortstop in the league.

Ray Boone, at third base, is another who should have a fine season. Boone played great ball for us last year after we obtained him from Cleveland. If I had to select one man who held our team together, I'd pick Boone.

The outfield should be more stable. Last year we couldn't decide on our regular outfield until the season got well under way. Now they will know where they will play. Right now I'd have to put Jim Delsing in center, Bob Nieman in left and Steve Souchock in right.

We have three or four rookies coming up very well recommended. Rookies are always a gamble. They can look great in the minors but when they come up to the big leagues, they fall short of the necessary requirements. However, I'm anxious to get a look at them all.

Giardello Favored In Cartier Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—The fight in Madison Square Garden tonight suggests the old bromide about "the kid with a future" and "the vet at the crossroads."

The "kid" in this cast is 23-year-old Joey Giardello of Philadelphia, the No. 2 challenger to middleweight champion Bobo Olson. The "vet" is 29-year-old Walter Cartier of New York, no longer listed among the top 10 of his division.

Both radio (ABC) and television (NBC) will carry the 10-round match nationally at 10 p. m., EST. Giardello is a 2 to 1 favorite.

Boxing Antitrust Suit Tossed Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The government has lost its civil antitrust suit against the International Boxing Club of New York and Illinois.

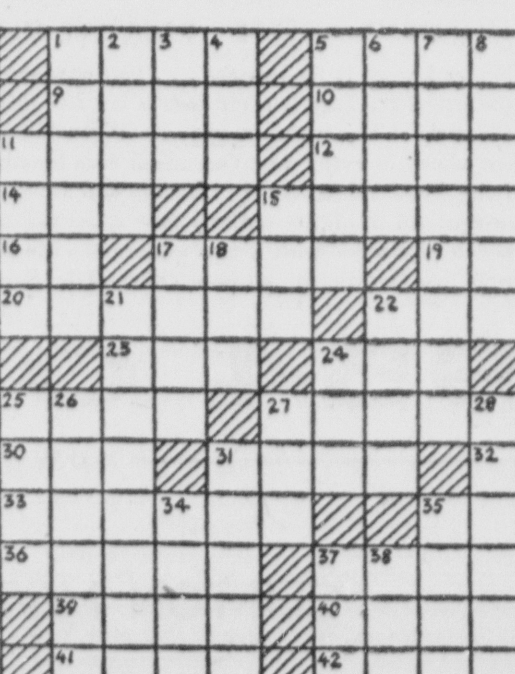

After hearing 40 minutes of argument yesterday, Federal Judge Gregory F. Noonan threw out the monopoly action, saying he was following a principle used by the U. S. Supreme Court last fall in dismissing an antitrust action against organized baseball.

In an action brought in March 1952, the government accused the IBC of conspiring to violate the Sherman Antitrust Act by monopolizing championship bouts.

Paul Cameron, flashy UCLA half-back, has become the second All America backfield star to agree to play for the National Football League's Pittsburgh Steelers. Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame signed earlier this week.

City, County Residents To Share Good Health In 1954

Local Reports Of '53 Deaths Fit In Pattern

Fatality Rate During Last Year Set At 9.6 Per 1,000 Population

Cincinnati and Pickaway County residents are due to share good health conditions with the rest of the nation throughout 1954 if national health experts are correct in conclusions announced Wednesday.

At the same time, the nationwide survey by insurance company statisticians shed new light on the fact that there were 23 fewer deaths in Cincinnati and Pickaway County in 1953 than in the preceding year.

"The health record of the people of the United States was excellent during 1953," declared one report that was compiled in New York, "and the present outlook for 1954 is that good health conditions will continue to prevail."

"The death rate for the country in 1953 was 9.6 per 1,000 population, or about the same as in 1952 which set an all-time low."

IT WAS pointed out that 1953 was the sixth successive year in which the country's death rate was below 10 per 1,000.

Local officials recently pointed out that while there was a decrease in the number of deaths in this area, heart ailments, leading all causes, once again killed more persons than any other disease.

The nationwide survey accounts in part for this factor in the following manner:

"There was a small increase in mortality from chronic diseases of the heart, kidneys, arteries, and from cancer."

"Much of this increase is accounted for by the rising proportion of older persons in the population. The mortality from these conditions was also adversely affected by the outbreak of respiratory disease and extremely hot weather in the late summer."

On the other hand, the 1953 record for infant and maternal health was termed "highly satisfactory."

On a nationwide basis, infant mortality was at a new minimum, the rate being estimated at 28 per 1,000 live births or slightly less than in 1952.

Sample Of Texas Going To Girl, 10

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Andrea Michalik of Minneapolis soon will receive a sample of Texas.

Texas Secretary of State Howard Carney's staff today was making up a package of Texas items for the 10-year-old schoolgirl who sent 10 cents postage and asked for a horse as a "sample" of Texas.

The package may include some Mexican jumping beans, but no horse, they said.

State Agency Unable To OK McCarthy Rap

WASHINGTON (AP)—The present State Department has found no foundation for an assertion made by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that one of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson's underlings attempted to "shake down" a foreign power.

During a Senate debate, Sen. Ellender (D-La.) asked McCarthy whether the Justice and State departments had refuted accusations McCarthy first made last July that someone in Acheson's tenure as secretary had tried to "shake down" a friendly foreign government for $150,000.

"The original statement is completely correct," McCarthy replied.

He let that comment stand by the department, a few hours later, said in a formal statement that an investigation had turned up "no information indicating that an employee of the State Department either accepted a bribe or was in any way engaged in wrongful, illegal or unethical conduct" in any such case.

Nor, the statement added, does the department have information that any friendly foreign power offered any bribes. But it said it has no authority to investigate whether anyone outside the department solicited any bribes.

Strip-Teaser 'Sold Down River'

BALTIMORE (AP)—A judge has voided the contract in which he said Pat (Amber) Halliday, 28-year-old strip-tease dancer, "sold herself down the river."

The contract was with Jack A. White of Hyattsville, Md., who had been Miss Halliday's manager about four years. It called for a 50-50 split, but the dancer said she frequently got very little of her weekly pay, which sometimes reached $500. "Only enough for the bare necessities," she told Judge Herman A. Moser.

The stripper said she was fed up with taking her clothes off in front of people and continued to work because she owes the government income taxes.

3 Lads Drown In Mill Pond

BRIDGETON, R. I. (AP)—Three first-grade pupils drowned yesterday when they stopped to play on the thin ice of a mill pond on their way home from school.

News of the tragedy was brought to the victims' families by Linda Frenette, 6, who also fell through the ice but managed to scramble to safety.

The bodies of William Cooney and Charles Hopp, both 6, were found floating face down in the water. The body of James Scanlan, 7, was recovered by grapplers about four hours later.

Age 35 Toughest And Lonesomest, 50 Comfortable, 65 Worrisome

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I have a friend who thinks it is more comfortable to be 50 than it is to be 35, and never wants to be 65.

He says that at 35 his biggest worry was how far he would get in the world by the time he was 50, but today his biggest worry is what in the world he will do when he faces retirement in 15 years.

Here is how one man feels about life at 50, looking both backward and forward:

Thirty-five is a man's lonesomest age. He is in competition with a lot of other men for the boss's favor. His children are at the age when they need him most, he needs them most, but has the least time to devote to them.

He still thinks of his wife as a girl, but won't drop his business cares to treat her as the girl she was 15 years before, when he married her.

At 35 a man worries about money, whether he has enough insurance, keeping up with the Joneses. He has to plan for prom dresses for his girls, and pocket money for the boys when they get ready to spend.

When they do start spending, he doesn't trust his wife to exercise proper supervision over the boys and girls they pick or the hours they keep. But he isn't around enough himself to have much to do with it either.

At 35 he hardly does more at home than eat and sleep, and at the office he isn't sure who are his friends, or if he has any.

As the years go along, if he is lucky, he does pretty well both at home and at the office. He gets a raise now and then, but never quite the recognition he wanted. And the kids just tolerate the advice he gives them and he hopes is sound.

But all of a sudden he is 50. The kids are away at school or married, and he realizes that he will now never have the time for comradeship with them he always thought he would work around to, if he weren't just so busy.

All at once the kids are gone from home entirely. He and his wife, married for 30 years, are back where they started—in some ways, but not quite.

The job at the office still has to be done, but he knows he has gone just about as far as he is going to go there. If he is properly philosophical, that's one load off his mind. He isn't in competition with anybody in his own mind, and therefore if anybody in the office pays him a compliment, he can believe they are sincere.

He feels he can speak his mind to the boss frankly without worrying about the consequences to his future, because the boss knows he doesn't have any more axes to grind.

When he comes home there is a lonesome moment at the door. But he gets used to missing the kids. He grows closer to his wife.

who by now certainly is not the same girl he married. But they can be more relaxed together than at 35, when they had to set an example for the kids. They can act more like kids themselves.

They can eat when they feel like it and sleep when they feel like it without keeping to a "health schedule" of the kind they read in a book. For the first time in their married lives they can live as they want to, but of course they don't have the money they dreamed they would have at 50. But they are at peace with the world.

But soon they realize that in a few years the boss is going to say, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant. Here is a gold watch and a small pension. Go and enjoy yourself for the rest of your life."

And the worries begin all over again. You wonder what there will be left to enjoy at 65. The kids will be gone, the job gone, and not enough income to do for your wife all the things you wanted to do when you started the road together.

I don't want to be 35 again. I never want to be 65. Middle age is the best age.

Over-Loaded Truck Brings Big Fine

LONDON (AP)—A Franklin, Pa., trucker has paid a whopping $1,276 to the mayor of nearby West Jefferson for hauling a tank 20 tons heavier than his truck's legal load limit.

Clair Phillips was fined after state highway patrolmen charged him with an overloading violation.

The patrol said Phillips' overload permit allowed 39,000 pounds on one axle of his tandem truck. The weight on that axle was 61,000 pounds, the patrol said. Total weight of the huge load Phillips was hauling to Fernald in Hamilton County, was 103,000 pounds, patrolmen charged.

'Sailor' Needs Flagman On Land

LIMA (AP)—A dryland sailor who forgot to post a flagman on the stern was fined $15 and costs and had to hire a flagman for his rig before he could cruise away.

Truck driver Leroy Perry, 41, of Houston, Tex., was hauling a 50-foot cabin cruiser from Port Clinton to Houston when he was arrested here because he had no flagman to wave warnings at the end of the carrier. His rig was overlength and his special Ohio permit called for a flagman as an added safety precaution.

Mishap Kills Lad

2 Polio Victims Killed In Blaze

They were Eugene Blais, 5, whose arms and shoulder were in a brace, and Delbert, 4, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Blais.

Mrs. Blais, who was watching television in an adjacent room, was summoned to the bedroom by her 7-year-old daughter Gail.

Gail carried her 1-year-old sister Judy to safety while the mother tried to smother the flames enveloping the boys' bunk beds.

Then she carried another daughter, Nancy, 2, to the street and tried to return for the boys. She was driven back by the flames.

Fire officials blamed the fire on a defective oil heater in the bedroom.

GOP Chieftains Holding Parley

Ohio Congressman Suggests Increase In Solons' Income

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) has suggested congressmen could settle their salary question with a $2,500 pay raise and a bigger expense account.

Congressmen now receive salaries of $12,500 a year, plus $2,500 for expenses.

A commission on judicial and congressional salaries recommended paying congressmen annual salaries of $27,500, along with six government-paid trips a year between Washington and their districts instead of one.

"My idea," Ayres told a reporter, "would be to raise the salary from $12,500 to $15,000, then allow expense accounts with ceilings of $10,000."

"That way you would accomplish two things: Give a raise and compensate for expenses congressmen wouldn't have in a normal job."

The general public, said Ayres, doesn't realize the cost involved in maintaining two separate residences, one in Washington and one back home, and other expenses—particularly traveling to and from Washington.

Ayres suggested any new law on the subject permit a congressman to draw on an expense account just the way a salesman does with a private firm. The ceiling would be $10,000.

"But in many cases, this wouldn't be more than $3,000," Ayres said. "Also, you would have him turn in receipts for, say, 75 per cent of his expenses."

In his own case, Ayres said while all of his normal expenses of keeping his wife and three children back home continue, he has expenses like these when he is in Washington:

A room with private bath—"Anything at all decent costs $100 a month."

Food bills—"Average $100 a month. Don't forget you have to eat out some time, and frequently buy a meal for a constituent who is visiting you."

Incidentals—"Average $100 a month. That covers things like cab fares, tips, laundry, pressing. Congressmen are called upon, too, to donate to so many causes, an organization sees that he makes $15,000 a year, and naturally thinks that sounds like big dough."

Travel to and from the district to Washington—"Averages $2,500 a year. My train fare is $60 round trip. The first session I was here I made 51 trips to my district."

"To do your job right, you have to go back to your district and report to your constituents. Now, you have only one trip paid for."
